The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR
Executive Secretary
Agricultural Council of California

The truth will out! But in this era of high-pressure propaganda and "false front" organizations, unfortunately, the truth is often delayed in transit—and it comes to light long after the damage has been done by half-truths and flagrant misrepresentation.

Currently, the veil has been lifted, at least in part, on the Simon Lubin Society of California, Inc., which has long belabored California farm groups and sought to rally farm people to its left-wing standard.

The truth comes out in this fashion:

The Rural Observer, an asserted farm periodical published by the Lubin Society, announces that it has been forced to suspend publication for lack of support. In a letter to subscribers it says it is unable to refund their money, but offers instead to send them copies of The People's World, daily communist paper.

The letter to subscribers sent out by the defunct Rural Observer advises them that The People's World is "definitely a left-wing publication," but asserts that it is "the only newspaper of general circulation independent of the vested interests which control California—therefore, the only paper which can be expected to tell the truth about the problems confronting California farmers."

Inasmuch as the People's World is a communist organ, devoted to stirring up class hatred and spreading communist propaganda, its version of "the truth about the problems confronting California farmers" is likely to have a definite Moscow flavor. In the Soviet, of course, there is no such thing as private ownership of land and farmers are both tenants and vassals of the State. The People's World, while it has had difficulty in selling that kind of a program to California farmers, has other strings to its bow. For the past year or two, it has devoted much space to advocating complete unionization of the farm labor and to bitterly berating farmers as "Tory land barons and labor-baiters."

The People's World, however, is neither new nor particularly interesting. The interesting thing is that the Simon J. Lubin Society, when forced to suspend its Rural Observer, should openly recommend a Communist publication to its followers.

The claim that the Communist paper is the only newspaper in California free from control of the "vested interests" is just sheer tommyrot and deceives no one. The truth of the matter is that the Lubin Society has drifted so far to the left that its principles and objectives read like they were taken from the Communist Party platform. It is the Lubin Society which is out of step—not the California press. And it is to the credit of California farmers that the Rural Observer died on the vine for lack of support.

California farmers have been forced to stand for a great deal of abuse from parlor pinkies and revolutionary dreamers. Most of the criticism, however, has come from persons with no practical knowledge of farming and no sympathy with the farming industry. In many instances, such attacks on farm groups and farm people have been carried on by "false front" organizations, with an air of respectability, but actually financed and controlled by the Communist party.

Gradually, the truth comes to light about many of these organizations, just as the Simon Lubin Society let the cat out of the bag when it suspended its own publication and recommended to the readers the Communist daily newspaper. It is only unfortunate that thousands of persons who have been influenced by the preachment of such organizations could not have known the nature and inspiration of the propaganda at the time they read it.

Camino Ridge Ranch Sale Is Reported

The sale of the twenty-acre fruit ranch on Camino Ridge owned by Edgar Balshaw, of Canada, to Mr. and Mrs. Lester H. Reed, of El Dorado County, is announced by Fannie M. Keller, realty broker. The ranch, said to be one of the most scenic along the highway, is planted to Bartlett pears.

BERLIN CLAIMS MAJOR GAINS AGAINST REDS

London Substantiates Reports Of Serious Setbacks For Russia

By UNITED PRESS

German rapid troops led by motorcycleists rocketing across the Ukraine were reported today to have cut off the Crimea in what appeared to be a lightning drive by land, sea and air against stubborn Russian defenses all around the Black Sea.

The Germans, as reported from Berlin and London, directed one thrust against the Red army lines east of Kiev, and another (or perhaps several) into south Ukraine to cut off the narrow isthmus leading to the Crimea, while a third phase indicated preparations for Black Sea operations from a western coast base such as Bulgaria.

According to the Berlin version, the land campaign already has made important progress, slicing rapidly through Russian defense lines in the flat country leading to the Soviet's greatest war industrial centers and apparently encircling some 300,000 enemy troops in lightning advances by tanks and motorcycle units.

The greatest emphasis in Berlin was placed on the encircling operations east of Kiev, which presumably now is caught or almost caught within the German pincers. Three Russian armies east of Kiev also were said by Berlin to be caught in the giant pincers and it was indicated that "whole staffs" of Russian formations had been entrapped.

Caminoan Is Summoned

Charles Hennings Called By Death Wednesday After Stroke Of Paralysis

The funeral services for Charles Hennings, 75, of Camino, will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Memory Chapel, Rev. J. R. Rudkin will officiate. Burial will be at Union Cemetery.

Mr. Hennings suffered a paralytic stroke on Friday and passed away at his residence on Wednesday evening about nine o'clock.

He was a native of Germany and came to America at the age of six years. About fifty years ago he came to California and about that time settled in the Camino district, where he had since made his home. Mr. Hennings is survived by his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Hennings, and one son, Charles Hennings, Jr.

SERVICE MEN'S COMMITTEE ON RE-EMPLOYMENT IN COUNTY IS NAMED

The creation of a service men's committee on re-employment, intended to assist men returning from military or naval service in the current emergency in their return to civil life is revealed with the appointment by Governor Culbert L. Olson of L. J. Anderson, as county chairman.

Anderson is naming his assisting committee and has designated Wallace M. Ripley as executive secretary, Don Hook and C. G. Price, representing the lumber industry; and Paul Smith, representing labor, as members of the committee. He said he will ask the appointment of one man from the American Legion, another from the Lions Club, as representing business, and one other to represent the mining industry.

The entire committee membership serves without pay.

Its purpose will be to develop a sympathetic attitude towards the returning men as regards jobs, and at the same time to develop a public understanding of the problems facing employers, to the end that as many as possible of the returning men be placed in work for which they have demonstrated qualifications.

WAY DOWN EAST In South Berwick, Maine, is the site of the first saw-mill in the United States and parts of the old foundation are still standing. The mill operated by water power on the Salmon Falls River using the old up and down saw, and was started in 1631. Everett Reese, of Camino, found great interest in visiting the site on an eastern trip earlier this year, and to him we are indebted for the two pictures, one of which shows Mr. Reese standing on a section of the old foundation.

11 BELGIAN PAMPHLETEERS SENTENCED TO DEATH

Belgrade Reports Execution Of Fifty Serb "Communist" Hostages In Retaliation For Death Of Nazi Soldier; Oslo Arrests Continue

BERLIN (U)—Eleven Belgians have been sentenced to death by a German court martial "for assisting the enemy, espionage and producing anti-German pamphlets," the German-controlled newspaper Brussels Zeitung announced today.

The Cracow Gazette of Poland, likewise German controlled, announced that a "special court" at Warsaw had sentenced a Pole to death for butchering 20 pigs and 15 calves and selling the meat in the illegal underground market at prices "15 times normal ones."

"This crime against the food supply is so serious it can be avenged only by the death penalty," the newspaper said.

The Belgium trial was conducted by German authorities who rule Belgium and northern France.

One of those condemned was sentenced to death twice.

The German court specified that there could be no appeal from the sentences.

"These sentences show that the courts of the German military force will proceed with relentless severity if, in spite of all warnings, citizens of occupied territories assist the enemy against Greater Germany," the Brussels Zeitung said in announcing the sentences.

At the trial, which lasted 14 hours, one person was sentenced to seven years in prison for assisting the others. One other person was dismissed because of "lack of evidence."

Arrests Continue
STOCKHOLM, (U)—German occupying authorities continue to arrest Norwegians in Oslo despite their lifting of the brief regime of martial law, advices from Norway said today.

Members of the Norwegian supreme court and several leading industrialists have been arrested and later released, it was said.

There was expectation that many persons arrested would be sentenced by German military courts despite the lifting of martial law.

Fifty Executed
BUDAPEST, Hungary (U)—Newspaper dispatches from Belgrade said today that 50 Serb "communist" hostages had been executed in retaliation for the killing of a German soldier.

The reports said the soldier was killed at Belgrade and 50 hostages, "all well known communists," were executed summarily.

Other newspaper dispatches from Yugoslavia reported that Yugoslav guerrillas were now excellently organized under officers and sergeants of the Yugoslav army. It was said they preserved military discipline and had not only machine guns but artillery. Their activity is assuming a great scale constantly, according to reports, and they now are blowing up bridges when they retreat before German forces seeking them.

SCHOOL EXHIBIT AT STATE FAIR COMMENDED BY SECTION CHAIRMAN

County School Superintendent K. W. McCoy has received from Marguerite C. Ferris, chairman of the school exhibits for the state fair, a letter commending very highly the excellence of the El Dorado County exhibit and the work of the pupils of the county schools as reflected by the exhibit.

El Dorado County's exhibit in the educational building at the state fair was arranged by Kathleen A. Dwyer, rural school supervisor, who has been in charge of the exhibit for several years, and for whom the letter from Miss Ferris is an especial compliment.

Dr. Hosking Reported Successful Hunter

The deer season is closed as far as Dr. Richard G. Hosking, of El Dorado, is concerned, if reports we hear are true.

The Mud Springs township Justice of the Peace is said to have bagged one deer on Tuesday and a second on Wednesday, and not too far from his courtroom.

Mathis Case Continued Until November 21

The charges of failure to provide, brought against Lee Mathis, were continued in Superior Court Thursday morning for further hearing on November 21st.

Meanwhile, the defendant is released on his own recognizance and the court directs that he contribute $25 per month to the support of his two children.

The regular September luncheon and card party of the wives of Forest Service workers was in progress Thursday afternoon at Hotel Raffles.

CONGRESS GETS NEW WAR AID PROPOSAL

President's Lease-Lend Request Anticipates Need Through June 30th, 1943

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Roosevelt asked congress today to appropriate $5,985,000,000 to continue lend-lease aid to nations battling the axis through June 30, 1943.

The President's request for funds to be used over the next two years indicated preparations for a long war.

He asked that he be left free to provide lend-lease aid to any country whose defense he considers vital to this country's freedom. That was the law governing the present $7,000,000,000 lend-lease appropriation, most of which has been allocated, and it would permit the U. S. to provide lend-lease aid to Russia if it desired. The present system, however, is to provide advance credits to finance Russian war purchases here.

Mr. Roosevelt informed congress that of the original $7,000,000,000 lend-lease appropriation provided six months ago, $6,280,000,000 is now moving through the successive stages of allocation, obligation, production and delivery.

"Additional funds are now needed in order that there be no interruption in flow of aid to those countries whose defense is vital to our own," the President said.

"I am therefore, transmitting a supplemental estimate of appropriation in the amount of $5,985,000,000, the details of which are set forth in the accompanying letter from the director of the bureau of the budget. I recommend its speedy enactment."

Although under terms of the Authorization proposed in the budget director's letter Mr. Roosevelt would have power to extend lend-lease assistance to Soviet Russia. Another clause in Smith's letter apparently was directed specifically at communists or members of any other organization in the United States which might be considered inimical to the national welfare.

"No part of any appropriation contained in this act shall be used (Continued from Page Three)

Lumberers Open New Union Hall

Fresh Pond Concern Notes New Record Cut For Single Band Mill

The Placerville Lumber Company reports that Fresh Pond local No. 2561, A. F. of L., opened their new union hall at Fresh Pond with a masquerade dance last Saturday evening. More than three hundred couples were in attendance, many coming from nearby camps.

Refreshments for the evening were provided by the company as an appreciation for a record cut made by the company mill on Wednesday, September 10, when in two ten-hour shifts, the mill cut 279,810 feet for an average of about 14,000 feet per hour, claimed as a record for a single band mill.

The company is operating two logging camps, one in Alder Creek basin on timber owned by the Silver Fork Timber Company, and the other on Forest Service timber on Plum Creek. Two contractors are also working with the company, George Scott on timber owned by A. J. Rupley, and Jack Cummings, operating on the Art Brown tract, below Sly Park. A total of 212 men are employed and a number of them are building homes in the near vicinity.

With the cooperation of the Rev. Dunlop, chaplain at Folsom prison, church services are held in the Union Hall every Sunday afternoon at 3:30. A great deal of interest has been shown in these meetings, which the general public is welcome to attend.

The company is operating in two shifts, six days a week and hopes to complete a cut of thirty million feet this season to take care of existing orders. The lumber is being distributed to the California Door Company, the Setzer Box Company, the Beach Box Company and the Pollock Lumber Company, according to kind, grade and type as required by the various concerns.

School at Last

Maybe other young boys his age don't like school, but Carl Mason, 11, of Pembroke, Mass., does. This is his first term in school after having spent practically all his life from infancy in hospitals fighting tuberculosis of the spine. He learned to walk only six months ago.

SUMMIT WORK IS SPEEDED

Maintenance Station Foundations Going In; Grading On Meyers Road

Pouring of concrete for the foundation of the four buildings which will make up the Echo Summit maintenance station of the State Division of Highways, was started on Tuesday.

According to E. D. Willis, maintenance superintendent for the division in the Placerville district, who is in charge of the work, the first foundation poured is for the truck shed.

This work was expected to be completed Thursday and plans had been made to move immediately to the bunkhouse site, where foundation forms were going in Wednesday.

A crew of approximately twenty-five men is engaged in building the station and Mr. Willis indicated that the pouring of foundations for the various buildings has been organized to the point where the concrete men are able to follow almost immediately on the heels of the carpenters as they complete the foundation forms.

A half-yard gasoline shovel is being used in connection with grading and clearing operations.

Willis said that the truck shed will have a concrete floor with sheet iron siding and galvanized iron roof. The bunkhouse will be of rustic lumber.

"The station will go ahead faster once we get off the ground," he said. "There has been a great amount of work done already, but to anyone who is not familiar with the work, it doesn't show in the present results."

While work on the maintenance station was proceeding at a brisk pace, reports were heard that the contractor on the Meyers grade improvement is moving ahead with like rapidity. The site for this work is the lower end of the grade, which is to be standardized to match the upper section of the grade, completed a year ago.

Recent reports indicated that the major work of clearing the right of way has been completed and that some grading is under way.

It is understood that the new alignment follows, generally, the existing route on the upper end of the project, while on the lower end of the hill a departure from the present alignment makes a direct connection with the new bridge across the Upper Truckee. It is reported that the contractor has announced plans to press the work rapidly this fall, as long as the weather will permit.

SSH-HI ONLY 45 FIRES THIS YEAR ON FOREST UP TO DATE

Eldorado Forest headquarters is speaking in whispers on the subject, pending close of the deer hunting season, but up to Thursday morning the forest listed only 45 fires for the entire season.

And these were confined to a total of not more than five acres. Deer hunting season, with many hunters in the forests at a time when the ranges are tinder dry is regarded as a peak period of forest fire hazard.

That is why the forest staff is not speaking too loudly, just at present, of the very excellent fire record.

NEW POWER SHUTDOWN THREAT

Union Returns Temporarily To Man Turbines Pending Strike Settlement Attempt

KANSAS CITY, Mo., (U)—A new shutdown of electric power to this metropolis was threatened today as union workers delivered an ultimatum to officials of the Kansas City Power and Light Company.

Striking members of the AFL international brotherhood of electrical workers at a closed meeting agreed to return to work temporarily and threatened to again walk from the power plants unless "a satisfactory settlement" of their dispute has been reached.

They maintained a token picket line at the two main plants of the company but allowed their own members through it to man the massive turbines until the next deadline is reached.

Whether a new walkout would cripple the city as did the union's first unannounced strike at midnight yesterday, depended, it appeared on the company's ability to replace the skilled electricians with non-striking employees.

A. E. Bettis, vice president of the company, said: "I don't look for any such shutdown as we had yesterday."

W. D. Petty of Washington, D. C. arrived here late last night to join Albert F. Wright, another of the union's international representatives in an attempt to reopen negotiations with the company.

The union, which claims 350 members, struck because it seeks to represent in present contract bargaining sessions 200 members of an independent organization which it said is a company union.

The independent union has been the basis of a national labor board action and a circuit court of appeals decision affirmed the board's order to the company to disestablish it. The company has not complied and is to answer a contempt citation in circuit court here October 11.

Power was restored to Kansas City yesterday, four hours after the switches first were thrown and the power has continued without interruption. (Continued on Page Three)

Farm Leader To Address Church

Special Interest Attaches To September 28th Visit Of George Wilson

George H. Wilson, of Clarksburg, one of the leaders in agriculture in California and a director of the American Farm Bureau Federation, will be a guest speaker at the church services at the Federated Church on Sunday morning, September 28.

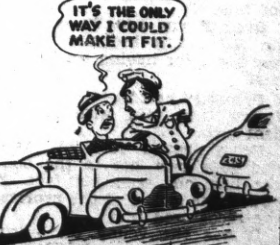

In announcing the scheduled visit of Mr. Wilson to Placerville, Rev. J. R. Rudkin, pastor of the church, said Mr. Wilson will speak on "The Importance of the Country Church in our National Life." The public is welcome to attend the service and a special invitation is being extended farm organizations of the county.

Mr. Wilson is a member of the National Beet Growers' Association, and for several years has been director of the Federal Land Bank in Berkeley.

Other current activities of the church include, in the Sunday school, plans for promotions and for re-organization of classes.

Summer Dessert Prescription!

PRESCRIPTION for a delightful climax for dinner on a hot mid-summer night—"Rx" . . . Take one sponge or angel food cake and cut in squares. Mold with lemon custard and chill. Serve for dessert when weather is warm.

Here is a prescription that can be followed with real pleasure—for the delicate quivery texture and the fresh tang of the lemon in this molded cake and custard dessert foster an illusion of coolness no matter what the thermometer may read.

The preparation of this dessert is simple, too, so simple in fact—that you can easily fit it into any crowded summer schedule. If you wish, the sponge cake may be purchased from a baked goods counter. The lemon custard, however, which gives the dessert its superlative flavor, can be quickly made in your own kitchen.

Particularly is this true, if you own a modern electric range. As you know, time-worn custom has necessitated the use of a double boiler when making custards. However, when cooking with the low, evenly distributed heat of a modern electric range, only a medium-weight, ordinary saucepan is needed. The low, constant, controlled heat coagulates custards to a smooth creamy consistency without a trace of curdling. This low surface heat, only one among the several heat settings found on the electric range, is also a real safeguard in the cooking of milk and egg mixtures, making it possible for the amateur cook to prepare these easy-to-burn products with ease and assurance.

A very real help, too, are the pilot lights now found on the surface units of some models which show what heat is being used. But back to our cake custard dessert; it should chill at least 2 hours to be firm enough to unmold but may chill overnight or longer. Here is the recipe:

PETITE CAKE MOLD

(Serves 8)

4 egg yolks (well-beaten)
 1 cup sugar
 1/2 cup lemon juice
 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
 1 teaspoon unflavored gelatin
 3 tablespoons cold water
 4 egg whites (beaten stiff)
 1 small unfrosted cake or a portion of a large one (angel food, sponge or plain cake)

Mix beaten egg yolks with 1/4 cup of sugar, lemon juice and rind and place in saucepan on electric surface unit. Cook over a low heat, stirring frequently, until the mixture is thick enough to coat a spoon, about 12 to 15 minutes. Meanwhile sprinkle gelatin over cold water and soak for 5 minutes; then add this to the hot custard mixture and stir until dissolved. Beat egg whites until stiff—then to them gradually add remainder of sugar while still beating constantly. Fold this egg white mixture into the custard and remove from heat. Brush 8-inch ring mold or small angel food cake pan lightly with salad oil. Cut cake into small squares, arrange in mold, and cover with the custard. Chill in refrigerator until firm—at least 2 hours. Unmold and serve with whipped cream if desired. Garnish with cherries or fresh fruit of any desired variety.

THIRD DIMENSIONAL FILM ATTRACTIVE NOVELTY AT EMPIRE

In addition to the Marx Brothers in "The Big Store," the Thursday and Friday program at the Empire affords the novelty of a "third dimension" picture.

When one looks at the screen with the naked eye, he sees little but a hodge-podge of color, but when you use the special glasses which are passed out to the audience, then the picture is seen with startling clarity.

The Marx Brothers are aided and abetted by Virginia Grey and Tony Martin in a comedy riot in a department store.

Street Scene

Brown wool dress trimmed with Persian lamb.

By VERA WINSTON

DAYTIME dresses of fine woolsen richly fur trimmed appear in many of the latest collections. Here is a particularly attractive model, an ideal dress for important occasions. It is a smooth woolen in a rich dark brown shade with matching Persian lamb. The fur is used to outline the bolero effect which is draped in an inverted box-pleat in front. It has a high V neckline, long straight sleeves and pockets of fur. A few gathers are concentrated in the center front of the skirt.

Love in Disguise

by MARY KEAS

Peggy O'Toole is a salesgirl in the bargain basement of Meredith's Department Store. One evening, as she is on her way home, a passing taxi splashes mud on her. When the young driver stops to apologize, and calls her "Girle," she indignantly squelches him.

CHAPTER III

"JAIME . . . tu aimes . . ." Peggy, in the French class at night school, struggled over the words, striving hard for the proper pronunciation. The professor's upraised hand stopped her.

"Pardon, mademoiselle. zats not quite right. Say eet like zis—'Jaime . . .'"

"But I did say it like that!" Peggy protested. There was a low chuckle behind her. "Frenchy doesn't agree," a lazy masculine voice said softly. "Som'zing amuse m'sieu?" The professor looked severely at the young man seated behind Peggy. "Be seated, mademoiselle. Now m'sieu, arise."

"Who, me?"

"Certainement! Go to ze black-

"Don't be too hard on me," he begged. "I'm just a poor, lonely hack-driver . . ."

board. Write ze forms of ze verb aimer in phonetic characters. "Oh, but I say—" protested the youth, rising and going to the board.

"Write, m'sieu!"

The young man rather haltingly began to write the forms requested. Several times he erased and wrote again. The class watched with detached interest. He was a newcomer, having joined the class just that evening, and no one knew him well enough to be sorry for him.

Even Peggy, usually sympathetic, felt mildly indignant. Served him right for having made fun of her!

Presently he turned. "Fins, professeur!" he said, with an impudent grin.

Peggy leaned forward. As he had gone past her to the board, she had not seen his face but now, as he looked at the professor, she recognized him.

It was the young taxi-driver who had splashed mud on her that afternoon!

The professor rose to survey his work. He grunted as he made a few corrections. "I'm not so hot at phonetic."

gave in. "Never let it be said that an O'Toole failed in her duty!"

SHE led the way to the gymnasium where a crowd of students were already dancing to the music of the school orchestra.

She soon discovered that her partner danced unusually well.

"You know," she said, after they had made a circuit of the room, "I don't even know your name."

"Then I'm one up on you," he smiled down at her. "I wasted no time in discovering yours. Well, mine's Jimmie Butler—but you can just call me Jimmie."

"Thanks!" said Peggy sarcastically. "You're quite sure of yourself, aren't you?"

"Why not?" he teased.

She gazed up at him a moment. "Like the professor I'm baffled about you. Why did you join that French class?"

"Maybe because I discovered you'd be there."

"Don't evade the issue!" severely.

"Well, don't be too hard on me," he begged. "As I told you, I am just a poor, lonely hack-driver who doesn't know many people and—"

Just then, another young man tapped Jimmie on the shoulder.

"Sorry," he said, taking Peggy away.

"HELLO, Joe," Peggy smiled up at her new partner. "I didn't see you before."

"That was obvious," Joe grunted. "Who's the new guy, Peg?"

"Jimmie Butler," he just joined tonight," Peggy informed him.

"He's in my French class."

Joe sniffed. "Funny—but when I wanted to join that class Frenchy told me he was full up. Now a guy like that comes out of nowhere and steps right in."

Peggy stopped to stare at him in reproach. "Why Joe Cassidy, how you talk!" she scolded. "You'd think it was my fault—I never saw Mr. Butler before today!"

"You wouldn't think so," Joe muttered. "Judging from the sick-cow looks you an' him been givin' each other."

Peggy stamped her foot. "You make me tired, Joe Cassidy!"

She turned angrily to leave the floor, but Joe caught her arm.

"Sorry Peg," he said, contritely. "C'mon—finish the dance, won't you?"

At that moment the music stopped.

"Looks like it's already finished," Peggy said crisply.

"Then how about the next one?" Joe pleaded.

"Fraid I can't stay for any more," she replied. "I can't afford to be late for work in the morning."

"Then how about me taking you home?" Joe asked eagerly.

"Well," Peggy considered.

She looked across the room and saw Jimmie Butler absorbed with a pretty blonde. She suddenly smiled up at Joe.

"All right!"

JUST as they were leaving the gymnasium, however, Jimmie suddenly dashed up to them.

"You're not leaving already, are you?" he demanded of Peggy.

"Why, we've had only one dance together!"

"That's my limit on week nights," Peggy told him.

"But—but—I thought—I was going to take you home," he stammered.

Joe was scowling darkly at him. "I—I took it for granted."

Jimmie added.

"Oh, did you?" Peggy said coolly. "That's too bad. Good night. Come on, Joe!"

She started down the corridor with Joe leaving Jimmie staring after her. They had almost reached the outer door when she heard her name called.

"Miss O'Toole! Peggy! Wait a minute!" Jimmie came racing after her once more. "Say—when are you going to let me see you again?"

"Let's see . . ." She made a show of considering. "School meets again on Thursday. See you in French class!"

With that, she swept out through the door with Joe.

BERLIN CLAIMS NEW SUCCESS IN UKRAINE

reported the Luftwaffe had bombed Moscow, Odessa and Leningrad, where meager reports indicated that a tremendous battle for the second city of Russia continued unabated.

In the Black Sea, the Luftwaffe was reported striking at Russian transports, supply ships and naval units and Russian relations with Bulgaria to be at the breaking point as a result of German use of Bulgarian bases. A break may come over the Bulgarian request to Turkey for permission for so-called Bulgarian warships to pass through the Dardanelles into the Black Sea—a method being used by the Axis in an effort to get Italian warships through the straits despite the Montreux treaty ban on use of the Dardanelles by belligerent warships.

The German efforts to supplement the naval units they already had concentrated in Rumania indicated plans for winter sea operations in connection with the Nazi drive through the Ukraine. If these preparations are successful, the Germans presumably would undertake naval and parachute operations against the Caucasian oil fields.

Moscow, however, appeared ready to take drastic action against Bulgaria if necessary and the British were threatening to attack any warships passing through the Dardanelles.

Mr. and Mrs. John Purcell and daughter, Miss Edythe Purcell, left Thursday for San Francisco, the latter planning to continue after a few days to Gooding, Idaho, to resume her teaching in the state school for the deaf, there.

to pay the salary or wages of any person who advocates, or who is a member of an organization that advocates the overthrow of the government of the United States by force or violence," this provision specified.

The same provision, however, specified that any person could clear himself of implication of membership in such an organization simply by swearing an affidavit that he does not advocate nor is a member of an organization that advocates overthrow of the American government by force.

Should a person who is proven a member of such a subversive organization be found on lend-lease payrolls, he would be subject to a $1,000 fine or a year's imprisonment or both under terms of the proposed statute submitted by the budget director.

Generally similar language has been included in most recent defense appropriation bills.

METEORITE FALL NEAR ECHO SUMMIT IS NOTED BY FORESTERS

R. D. Daigle and T. R. Littlefield of the Forest Service office at San Francisco report having seen a meteorite fall a few hundred yards from them while traveling eastward on Highway 50 between Phillips and Audrain.

The phenomenon was observed in broad daylight on August 27th. The meteorite was seen to fall behind a screen of timber between 300 and 500 yards away. They paused long enough to make a cursory observation of the area, but could not see any fire or smoke near the spot where the meteorite seemed to come to earth.

Daigle said the fiery mass, easily visible in the afternoon sunlight, had a tail 20 of 30 feet long.

He suggested the meteorite might have fallen in a stone quarry a few hundred yards south of the Audrain station, not far from the Summer camp of the Sacramento Boy Scouts.

BASKET PICNIC PLANNED BY LEGION POST AT BASS LAKE

Members of El Dorado Post No. 119, American Legion, and their families are making plans to hold a basket picnic on Sunday, September 28, at Bass Lake, and devote the day to a picnic outing.

Invitation is being extended to members of the post at Jackson to share the day.

Preliminary plans provide that those who attend will meet at ten o'clock in the morning at the War Veterans' Memorial Building and go to Bass Lake as a group.

TAHOE CABIN BURGLARIES LAID TO YOUTH FROM NORTH SACRAMENTO

George A. Hall, 19, whose home is in North Sacramento, was jailed Wednesday by Sheriff George M. Smith in an investigation of the burglary on September 2 of three cabins on the Luther Pass road, in Lake Valley.

The sheriff said that he found Hall with some of the reported loot in his possession, and that he was expecting an arrest in San Francisco in connection with the case.

Hall, the sheriff said, claimed he had cached some of the loot in the near vicinity, and a visit to the district was to be made on Thursday.

MERCANTILE STORES OPEN NEW UNIT AT CARSON CITY

The Cash Mercantile Stores Company is making plans for the opening of a new store at Carson City on or about October 10. It was announced this week by H. V. Jespersen, one of the executives of the company and manager of the company's store in Placerville.

The Carson City location will be on the main street of the Nevada Capital, on the east side, and between the postoffice and the state capitol.

The store will be under the management of L. J. Wright, the manager of the company's store in Portola. Mr. Wright will be a partner in that store with Mr. Jespersen, H. T. Sedgwick, of Oroville, and J. R. Ryans, of Blackfoot, Idaho, who are the owners and operators of stores in Colorado and in California. The Carson City store is the first in Nevada owned by the group.

RECORDING OF YOUR OWN VOICE SOON POSSIBLE AT MURRAY'S STORE

It will soon be possible to make, right here in Placerville, a recording of your own voice.

A. H. Murray, of Murray's store, announced during the week that a special recording room is being built at the store, where equipment to make the recordings will be installed.

The room will, necessarily, be sound-proof. Mr. Murray points out that recording one's voice, while something of a novelty, has numerous practical uses. Persons engaged in public speaking make use of the development as an aid to speech correction. Voice recordings are in wide use as personal greetings on birthdays, other anniversaries or at holiday time.

You simply step into the booth, speak your piece and take the record with you to send to friends or, as in the case of a public speaker, to re-play at home for study.

CCC Enrollments Are Continuously Open

County Clerk Arthur J. Koletzke has received word that the enrollment of men 17 to 23 years of age in CCC service is being carried on continuously throughout the Nation so that it is not necessary for men to wait for any "enrollment period" before applying. Many of the CCC men are finding the opportunity for vocational training in defense work in the CCC. Mr. Koletzke is the enrollment officer for this county and men interested should apply at his office at the courthouse.

Super-Pancakes Stack Up For Supper

YOU'LL reach the pinnacle of pancakeery, if you shoot a sheet of stacked-up pancakes like these bran beauties to the hungry horde. Each pancake was a slice of ham or cheese before its bran cereal batter bath and hot griddling. Let each supper-serve himself a stack with the pancake turner right from the cookie sheet (successfully serving as a salver); bring the butter to the table the way grandma did, a fat, round mold; see that the syrup is spout-high in the squat pitcher and that the party-size coffee pot is on the stove. Instructions on how to make this parade of double-duty pancakes follows.

Supper Pancakes

2 eggs 1/2 teaspoon dry
2 1/2 cups milk 1/2 cup melted
3 cups flour 1/2 cup shortening
2 tablespoons baking powder 1 cup bran
1 1/2 teaspoons salt 15 slices boiled ham or cheese
Beat eggs, add milk and mix well. Sift flour with baking powder, salt and mustard; add to first mixture stirring until flour disappears. Add melted and cooled shortening, and bran cereal. Dip ham or cheese slices in batter and bake on hot griddle, turning over once. Yield: 15 cakes (5 1/2 inches in diameter).

What Employers Look For in College Graduates

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.
College youth and those looking forward to college should know that scholarship and character are first in the eyes of employers.

Once a year, the Investors Syndicate of Minneapolis makes a survey of American colleges to ascertain the job prospects of the students being graduated. The current survey reveals that institutions of higher learning can't meet even a third of the demands on them for trained workers. Obviously, these demands reflect the technical needs in the defense program.

But the most interesting disclosures of the survey are the qualities in college graduates that employers are looking for first. In order of importance these qualities are: scholarship, character, adaptability, campus popularity, alertness, extra-curricular activities and dependability. The employer, in measuring a prospective employee asks, "What do you know?" Then he asks, "What are you?" "What can you do?" "Whom do you know?"

You probably have read surveys of college alumni and have observed that when a college graduate is asked what he got that was best out of college, he has nearly always replied, "Contacta." The college graduate tends to put a high premium on whom he knows.

Scholarship and Character
Yet the employer today, as disclosed by this study of the Investors Syndicate, is less interested in campus popularity and out-of-class activities than in scholarship and character. Even the graduate himself, after several years, discovers that scholarship and character at college grow in his esteem while the contacts correspondingly wane.

Several years ago I was informed by the principal of a large vocational high school in a city of a million people that employers interviewing his graduates wanted to know first how many extra-curricular activities the prospective employee was engaged in. One might infer that this type of emphasis is now waning. Anyway, to assume that the student who is engaged in the greatest number of school activities has most promise as an employee is not good reasoning.

Not a few students in high school and college are engaged in too many extra-curricular activities. As a rule, they either must neglect their studies or wear themselves out, impairing their physical and mental health.

The findings of the Investors Syndicate should be taken seriously by parents and their children in high school and college.

It is my guess that a similar survey several years hence will find more emphasis placed by employers on scholarship and character with character ranking first.

Q. "My four-year-old girl goes to bed willingly but if company happens to drop in before she falls asleep she begs to come out to see them."

A. Some patient, sympathetic mothers who have good control of a child will let him or her come to the door to take a peek at the guests and say, "Hello." This may satisfy. It must stir up a little child's imagination and curiosity when he hears from his bedroom voices of strange people he cannot see.

GEORGETOWN NOTES

Alex Francis was stricken with a severe heart attack Monday afternoon and is confined to his home.

Mrs. Myra Cushman Isabel, who passed away at Placerville Saturday was a native of Georgetown aged 83 years. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Cushman, were pioneers of 1855, who were married at a double wedding at Lakeville, Mass., July 12, 1852. The other couple was Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bryant. The two couples journeyed west together by way of the Isthmus of Panama, arriving here in October of 1855 and settling at Mametuke Hill, a mile north of Georgetown. Mrs. Isabel was one of ten children born to Mr. and Mrs. Cushman. Two brothers, Albert and Ira D. Cushman, both of Georgetown, survive her. Myra spent several years in the state of Nevada with her first husband, Walter Jones. Several years after his death she was married to Frank Isabel and they made their home at El Dorado. Of a kindly, gracious nature Myra held the love and esteem of all she came in contact with. Funeral services were held at Placerville with the graveside services in the Georgetown cemetery late Tuesday afternoon. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Spencer, Mrs. Sue Jones Nelson of Sacramento and Mrs. Spencer Wheeler of Tracy. "She lives with us in memory, and will forever more."

Mr. and Mrs. Levo Campani and son Charles were in town last week from their mountain home on their way to their Sacramento home for the opening of the school term. El Dorado Parlor of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, with President Nettie Leonard presiding entertained their Grand President, Clarence E. Cook of Stockton at their regular meeting Saturday afternoon. A very delightful afternoon was spent with their distinguished visitor who brought a most impressive and inspiring message to those present. A lovely gift was presented to her and later a lunch was served. Those from out of town who came to greet the grand president were Sup. Dep. Grand Pres. Bertha Reeg, Dep. Grand Pres. Ethel Weeks, Pres. of Marguerite Parlor, Mrs. Maggie Carpenter, all of Placerville; Rosa Burnett of Chispa Parlor, Ione; Miss Ida May Green, Hollister Parlor; Mrs. Caroline Hotchkiss of Grass Valley; Mrs. Lena Caparra of San Francisco, and Miss Margaret Kelley and Mrs. Nellie Kelley of Kelsey.

Several friends and neighbors of Miss Mollie Nathlich called on her Wednesday evening of last week to wish her "Happy Birthday." She was well remembered with gifts and greeting cards. Cards were enjoyed during the evening and coffee and birthday cake was served at a late hour.
